Comment Das Original: Solitude To sit on rocks, to muse o'er flood and fell, To slowly trace the forest's shady scene, Where things that own not man's dominion dwell, And mortal foot hath ne'er or rarely been; To climb the trackless mountain all unseen, With the wild flock that never needs a fold; Alone o'er steeps and foaming falls to lean; This is not solitude, 'tis but to hold converse with Nature's charms, and view her stores unrolled. He would sing the Commandments, and give an appropriate character to each prohibition. Griggs T. Do metaphors rely on bodily experience.

At least, that's what they say. I was a republican from my childhood, but not republican in the sense in which the lynx would understand it ; my republicanism is lycanthropy. Shake coconut rum and almond-flavored liqueur over ice.
